

University of Toronto
Department of Speech-Language Pathology

Assistant Professor (Tenure-Track)
Application Deadline: February 15, 2010

The Department of Speech-Language Pathology, University of Toronto, invites applications for a tenure-stream appointment in the field of Speech-Language Pathology. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin on July 1, 2010.

An exceptional career opportunity exists for a person holding a Ph.D. to join the Department of Speech-Language Pathology at the University of Toronto, one of the outstanding research universities in North America. The department is housed in the Rehabilitation Sciences Building, which offers excellent teaching and research facilities. The University of Toronto offers unique opportunities for collaborative and interdisciplinary research, encourages innovative scholarship, and provides the excitement of teaching a diverse student population.

We are interested in candidates with a clear research vision, demonstrated research potential and proven teaching ability. Preference will be given to candidates with a background in child language or acquired language disorders. Completion of a post-doctoral fellowship is an asset. Salary is highly competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Closing date for first-round applications is February 15, 2010, but the search will continue until the position is filled (start date July 1, 2010). Applications should include a curriculum vitae, names of three references, and copies of representative publications.

We strongly encourage you to submit your application online by clicking the following link below:

<https://utoronto.taleo.net/careersection/10050/jobdetail.ftl?lang=en&job=0901084>

If your documents are too large to submit online (document maximum is 2MB or 5 files), please email search.slp@utoronto.ca.

For more information about the Department of Speech-Language Pathology, please visit our home page at www.slp.utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is situated in a large, vibrant multicultural city and is strongly committed to diversity within its community. We especially welcome applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.